TSI Congress 2025: The Place for Asset Based Finance

Challenges and Opportunities

The year 2025 is marked by global uncertainties: Geopolitical tensions and economic disruptions are challenging financial and capital markets. In this environment, asset-based finance is gaining importance.

With an increased focus on competitiveness and resilience, securitisations are becoming a key component of the European Capital Markets Union. As the Savings and Investment Union gains significance, the emphasis is increasingly shifting toward equity financing. However, equity and debt financing must be considered in conjunction.

Join leading experts and policymakers to discuss the role of securitisations in this dynamic environment and how they can contribute to Europe's economic stability and competitiveness.

Key Topics of 2025 at a Glance

- Geopolitics & Macroeconomics:
The impact of global tensions on financial markets
- Economic Development:
Strategies for stabilization in the USA, Europe & China
- Capital Markets Union & Regulation:
Progress and challenges
- Securitisations & Financing:
New opportunities for companies and investors
- Technological Innovations:
Digitalization and the future of the financial industry
- European Competitiveness: The role of the financial industry in driving growth and competitiveness – from the Savings and Investment Union to enhancing Europe's attractiveness as a global financial hub.
- Market Trends: Developments in public ABS, balance sheet relief transactions, and infrastructure financing. How do interest rates, inflation, and economic conditions affect the financial markets?
- Asset Classes: Securitisation trends ranging from auto and consumer loans to commercial real estate, as well as sustainable investments and scale-up financing.
- Regulation & Technology: New disclosure requirements, regulatory developments, and the role of tokenization, DLT, and CBDCs in securitisation.

We look forward to exploring these significant topics with you and welcoming you to the TSI Congress 2025! Take advantage of this unique opportunity to gain valuable insights, expand your network, and actively contribute to shaping the future of asset-based finance. Be part of the event as leading experts, decision-makers, and industry representatives set the course for the coming years.
